It would be great to see you there alongside your amazing young boys who participated in the S.M.I.L.L.E-ing Boys project for 8 -weeks.

The S.M.I.L.L.E-ing Boys project is an 8-week long happiness research led creative arts project, created by the Artist, Kay Rufai, which addresses the mental health needs of black boys while challenging the negative stereotypes of this demographic in the media & in society. The project has been featured in the Guardian, Channel 5 News, BBC and more.
